

Center for Community College Student Engagement

RE-ENGAGING DATA

Volume 2, Issue 2 | October 2018

Part-Time Faculty and Advising

Show Me the Way: The Power of Advising in Community Colleges, a national report the Center released in February 2018, explores various components of advising, including its structure.

29%
of students say that instructors are their main source of advising

23%
of part-time faculty say advising is part of their teaching role

67%
of part-time faculty report spending at least some time advising students
every week

Almost all part-time faculty say that their college provides professional development opportunities, and seven in ten of those faculty members have taken part in these activities.

Is professional development about advising offered to your part-time faculty?

For more information, please see cccse.org/NR2018

Re-Engaging Data | October 2018 Volume 2, Issue 2
Center for Community College Student Engagement

Program in Higher Education Leadership Department of Educational Leadership and Policy
College of Education
The University of Texas at Austin

© 2018 Permission granted for unlimited copying with appropriate citation